INCORPORATION OF TROPICO VALIDATED

Hostility Barred By Statute of Limitation

Six months (183 days) having elapsed since the filing of the order of the Board of Supervisors, incorpoorating the City of Tropico, with the Secretary of State, the act of incorporation and all acts of the city as such under the statute of the state for the organization of cities are VALIDATED by operation of law.

Furthermore, any action to contest or inquire into the right of the city to act in its municipal capacity, not brought within that period, or since March 15, 1911, is BARRED by express provision of law.

No such action having been brought the right of the people of Trppico to exercise the franchise of a city IS INCONTESTABLE HENCEFORTH AND FOREVER.

Now please be good.

A petition is in circulation asking that Tropico be made a substation of Los Angeles with free delivery service—the same as is Glendale.

A SATISFACTORY SEANCE WITH RAILWAY MAGNATES

A committee of the Tropico Chamber of Commerce, consisting of Messrs. M. M. Eshelman, Frank H. Davis and "Leigh" Bancroft, experienced an agreeable seance with the executive board of the Pacific Electric Railway Company of Los Angeles on Tuesday last. The gracious audience was granted by appointment of vice-president of the company, Paul Shoup for the purpose of giving the people of Tropico a hearing through their representatives of the Chamber of Commerce in relation to their several wants, at the hands of the railway management.

The first matter brought to the attention of the gentlemen of the executive board was the ugly stretches of wire with which the company has seen fit to fence itself up on its way through Tropico. It was suggested by the committee that this fence was neither ornamental nor useful and might be removed without serious shock to anybody's nerves. When Mr. Shoup ventured suavely to inquire if anybody knew what it was there for and how, nobody knew; and its existence being defenseless, there will probably be a fence less there pretty soon.

The next matter taken up was that of having the distinction of each car headed for Tropico indicate in plain and distinctly visable lettering on the front of it.

In reply to his question as to the necessity of this, Mr. Shoup was informed that Tropico's reputation as one of the loveliest and most attractive places on earth had gone abroad throughout all the land and that many strangers from everywhere over the earth were trying to get there. They could find Los Angeles all right, but instances were numerous of their standing on Sixth street corners, watching for a Tropico car, and, seeing none, had concluded they had been iled to and had gone away disgusted.

If a car front could wear a prodigious sign board flaunting the legend "La Ramada," why could not room be found for a similar one of Tropico?

Even Mr. McMillan did not ocer a reason why, and the chances are the point was carried and that the day is not distant when TROPICO will appear in dazzling letters on the shining forefront of inter-urban coaches hitched up to invisible horses harnessed with lightning.

It was made plain to the railway officials by the Tropico representatives that nothing was sought that was not in harmony with the best interests of both the company and the people and assurances of co-operation to that end in the widening of Brand boulevard and other matters were freely exchanged, and the interview ended in a spirit of happy friendship.

Vergne Hogue, Sentinel linotypist, is ardently interested in the young lady prize winners at the cake contest.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunter of Sawtelle, have opened the Pinklington apartments over the drug store. They found no trouble of filling the several rooms from the start.

LOCAL AND OTHERWISE

D. H. Imler leaves Saturday for his ranch in Imperial.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodpasture and children of Chicago, are house guests of Mrs. W. A. Hough.

Bids for street work on Central avenue are to be received, as elsewhere notified in this paper.

The Epworth League was delightfuly entertained by Miss Lola Pratt, at a lawn social last Thursday evening.

Miss Majorie Hogue, recent house guest of Miss Amie Johnson, will attend the private school of Miss Wing, Los Angeles.

The case of disturbing the peace, from Washington Park, before Justice Melrose on Monday last, was continued for one week and the accused released on his own recognizance, until that time.

Col. W. H. Halleck, a veteran of the civil war, whose residence is on Moore avenue, is at Clara Barton hospital, where he has had a surgical operation performed, and is doing nicely.

Judge Melrose has acquitted A. W. Handorf of the charge of polluting the water of Los Angeles river and lectured the tenant in charge of Mr. Handorf's ranch, Mr. Capri, for the offence committed.

George Wagner, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Burch, of Tropico, arrived from his home in Denver, Col., on Saturday, last. George is a "native son" of California and expects to permanently reside here. He is now living with his sister, Mrs. C. C. Stanley, Los Angeles, and attending the Hollywood high school.

Azusa Morena, an aged Mexican is in an unconscious state at his home in Ivanhoe. He was found lying on the ground at the foot of the hill on the river bank, on Sunday last, by Marshal Fishback and Dr. Pollock of Tropico, with deep bruises on his head and face, apparently the result of having been thrown from his wagon, which was nearby with his horse hitched to a tree. How the accident occurred is a mystery.

"Why Women Should Vote," is to be the subject of an opportune discourse by Rev. C. B. Hatch at the Presbyterian Church, next Sunday evening. The interest the public is taking in that vital question and the reputation of Mr. Hatch as a pulpit orator should suffice to fill the auditorium and annex to their utmost, as they, no doubt will. Mr. Hatch will take the affirmative of the question and will illustrate it with convincing force. Hear him.

In his report of the action of the Chamber of Commerce in the matter of renaming Tenth and Eleventh streets, the secretary got the names reversed. They should have been, for Tenth street, Lincoln avenue, and for Eleventh, Acacia street. As designated on the city map, Tenth street is not opened east of Glendale avenue on a direct line, and Eleventh street, west of Glendale avenue, is Tenth street east thereof. Mr. G. H. Friedgen is looking after the renaming of these streets.

After an absence of a year and a half with her children, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron A. Wolf, and grandson, Roy Wolf, at their home in Pomona, Cal., Mrs. B. Riley is again at her cottage home on Cypress street. Mrs. Riley is the widow of the late Levi Riley, one of Tropico's earliest pioneer residents, and first of its wellto-do public spirited citizens. The Brethren's place of worship, at Park and Glendale avenue, is a local testimonial to his generosity. The Davenport tract was his home place which, at his death, passed to his widow who sold it to Mr. Davenport a number of years ago. The transformation of the old homestead into its present site of a score or more of attractive homes, is especially pleasing to the venerable lady, as its former owner. It is six years since Mrs. Riley's last visit to the business section of the city, and, of course, the changes wrought there were surprising to her.

Last Saturday was certainly a lively day at the Tropico Mercantile Co. store. In response to a four-column advertisement appearing in our paper, 49 cakes were presented, also biscuits, rolls, pie crusts and raisin bread, for entry in the baking contest.

The methods used by the firm were unique and enterprising, for the store was filled from beginning to end. The only restrictions placed upon contestants was that they should use Fairbank's Cottolene for shortening. Prizes were donated by Weston Studio, Frank B. McKenny & Son, Story's Pharmacy, Tropico Sentinel, Glendale News and Tropico Mercantile Co.

The prizes were awarded as follows:

First prize for best cake, consisted of $15 worth of photographic work donated by Weston's Studio, located on Brand boulevard, and one first prize contest medal which was awarded Miss Daphna Story.

The second prize was for second best cake and consisted of a 6x9 Smith's Tapestry rug, donated by Frank B. McKenney & Son, hardware and furniture merchants, and one second prize cake contest medal, and was awarded Miss Mildred Prescott.

Fourteenth prize, $2 selection from dry goods side of Tropico Mercantile Co., for youngest boy or girl who enters the coontest, was awarded Miss Gladys Martin, age five years.

In order that the judging might be fair in every way, the names of the contestants were removed from all articles entered and cakes were all numbered and judged strictly on merits and not on looks. Each cake was cut and sampled by three qualified judges of the vicinity. The ladies who kindly consented to act as judges were Mrs. W. H. Bullis, Mrs. H. L. Moody and Mrs. Haver. Mr. W. H. Ford, of the N. K. Fairbank Co., sole makers of cottolene, conducted the contest.

BARACA NOTES

The Baraca-Philathea circus held in Logan's hall last Friday evening was a big success. It was well attended by a jolly crowd and the financial reports of the enterprise are very favorable. The Baraca class is to hold a business meeting in the church next Friday evening, September 15th. All young men between the ages of 16 and 21 are invited to attend this meeting and, especially, our regular Sunday morning meetings in the C. E. room of the Presbyterian Church, at 10 o'clock.

HAROLD H. STORY, Press Agent.

To the Editor of Tropico Sentinel:

Dear sir:—The Tropico Mercantile Co. wishes to express through the columns of your paper, their appreciation to the merchants who contributed prizes for the baking contest, to the ladies who acted as judges and those who took part in the contest, both the winners and those who did not, and trust it may have proved beneficial to all of us.

TROPICO HOLD UP

On alighting from the Los Angeles electric car at about 9 o'clock Wednesday night, on San Fernando road, near Mira Loma street, Mr. M. Weeks, of Tropico, was accosted by a couple of men, one tall and the other short, and ordered to hold up his hands, which he proceeded to do at the point of a revolver. Finding no valuables on his person he was allowed to proceed on his way rejoicing, though badly scared.

HOPS VALUED BY LOOKS AND AROMA.

Best Are Raised In Bohemia, Bavaria and Parts of England.

According to the prevailing opinions, which, according to some American growers, are mere prejudices, the best hops are raised in Bohemia, Bavaria and some parts of England, notably Kent. Most American brewers as well as their European brothers value hops largely by their appearance and their aroma. This matter is being thrashed out thoroughly in connection with the barley and hop exhibition which will be held in Chicago Oct. 12-22. As in the case of other aromatic plants, the sources of the aroma are not well understood. Aroma usually depends upon such minute particles of substance that even the delicate reactions in the chemical laboratory are frequently inadequate to discover them. The high prices which are paid, for instance, for certain wines are based upon their flavor or aroma, and yet this flavor or aroma cannot be discovered by chemical analysis. It is not surprising, therefore, that the substances which contain the flavor or aroma of hops have never been ascertained with certainty. There is a theory that they are closely associated with the soft resins contained in the lupulin, or the hop flour, which is found between the bracts of the cone and which is really the essential part of the hop plant.

As for the color of the hops, various preferences prevail, some preferring the varieties which are entirely green, while others think the yellowish green is preferable. In this country the yellowish kinds are usually preferred, while in Germany the green ones have the call.

Inasmuch as the brewing value of hops depends largely upon the lupulinic acid and the soft resins and the American hops are unusually rich in soft resins, American hop growers need have no fear of entering the prize competition at Chicago under the rules which have been adopted for the jury which is to judge the hops.

AWARDS OF PRIZES FOR HOP EXHIBITS.

Conditions That Will Govern In This Class.

Awards of prizes will be made according to the following rules for hops entered in the second international barley and hop prize exhibition to be held at Chicago, Oct. 12-22, 1911:

The awards will consist of twenty-one prizes, the highest amounting to $150.

For the purpose of prize distribution each distinct hop growing section (foreign or domestic) will constitute a class by itself. The following American sections are recognized as distinct for this purpose: (1) New York state. (2) California. (3) Oregon, (4) Washington, (5) British Columbia.

Hops grown outside of these sections will be considered as belonging to that section which conforms most closely to their districts geographically and climatically, in the discretion of the committee on awards.

All samples of hops must be certified to have been grown by the exhibitor.

The amount of hops offered for exhibit must be at least ten pounds, with six clusters of about twelve cones each.

SECRETARY WILSON HONORARY PRESIDENT

U. S. Department of Agriculture In Barley and Hop Exhibition.

The secretary of state, the Hon. Philander Knox, has sent out to the diplomatic and consular representatives of the United States in foreign countries a circular letter informing them that an international brewers' congress will be held in Chicago, Oct. 12 to 22, 1911, and instructing them to bring the matter to the attention of the respective governments to which they are accredited, with the request that due publicity be given to the information and that the respective parties in interest be invited to participate in the congress.

The circular further contains the information that there will also be held at the same time and place an international prize exhibition for barley and hops.

The secretary of agriculture in the United States, the Hon. James Wilson, is the honorary president of the international brewers' congress.

The United States department of agriculture is preparing an exhibit by which the United States government will be represented at the international prize exhibition for barley and hops. The department will show what has been done by several of its experts who have been for some years devoting their time to the improvement of these crops.

The importance of this exhibition for the farmers who raise barley and hops cannot be overrated. It is believed that the first step is herewith taken to bring about a system of valuing these important crops upon a basis of fact rather than upon mere individual preference and perhaps prejudice.

CLASSIFICATION OF AMERICAN BARLEYS.

Commonly Known as Two Rowed, Four Rowed and Six Rowed.

Barleys are commonly classified as two rowed, four rowed and six rowed. The European brewers generally prefer the two rowed varieties, which are plumper and starchier, while in this country the six rowed, of which the four rowed is but a slightly varied relative, is generally preferred because, while less starchy, it is more highly albuminous and therefore possesses more of the substance which brings about the inversion of starch into sugar—namely, diastase.

The common American brewing barleys arrange themselves in the following system:

1. Six rowed, erect—White Club.
2. Four rowed, drooping—Manchuria barley, Oderbrucker, Scotch, Ohio Fall, Bay Brewing, Blue barley.
3. Two rowed, erect—Goldthorpe, Primus, Fan barley.
4. Two rowed, drooping—Common Chevalier, Horsford's Chevalier, Hanna, Princess.

Six Rowed Barley.—Through several years' experimentation at the Wisconsin agricultural experiment station it has been found that the six rowed barley is preferable to other varieties and more profitable for the average farmer to grow. The yield far surpasses that of the other varieties, and the market demands for the six rowed class far surpass those of all other varieties combined. At a conservative estimate 98 per cent of all the barley now grown in Wisconsin is six rowed barley. This being the type of barley most commonly used for malting in the United States, it is likely that most of the samples that will be shown at the barley and hop exhibition in Chicago in October, 1911, will be of that type.

The experiments with two rowed barley through eight years' continuous breeding work clearly prove that in most regions the farmer cannot get the returns from this crop that can be secured with the six rowed variety. The straw seems to be very frail and lodges easily, thereby injuring the quality of the grain and reducing the yield.

ON THE ROAD TO MOSCOW

The most ominous feature of the present situation in Republican party is the absence of any peace-making harmony element such as is usually to be found striving to restore order when a row breaks out.

It might be supposed for example, that the individual who holds the highest position in the gift of the party and who hopes for renomination and re-election through the party, would feel some interest in the business of getting the organization in shape to meet the enemy. The would-be candidate is always the most enthusiastic harmonizer. But not Mr. Taft. He is showing us some startling innovations in politics.

It is quite possible that if the nominating convention were held right now Mr. Taft would command a majority of the delegates. The South is a federal pocket borough, and most of the Eastern states with large representation in the convention are in control of stand-pat political machines. But Mr. Taft's supporters, who are many of them old hands at the game of carrying elections, certainly will not contend that he can win in the finals with stand-pat votes alone. What counts in politics is not hot air nor boasting nor curses, but ballots on election day. Taft must have them. Where is he to get them?

Plainly enough either from the insurgents or the Democrats—preferably the former, because that will hold the party together and make it a working force; but in default of them even Democrats would come handy. How is he to win these votes—by attacking and abusing and misrepresenting the faction to which they belong? That is about the worst method that could be devised, and one that nobody who has so much as cut his eye-teeth in politics ever attempts.

On top of all his other drawbacks Mr. Taft is about the most hopeless proposition as a politician that this country ever looked upon. Even his best friends acknowledge that. Now there have been people who have made a great success of public life by ignoring politics entirely; in fact, most of the really great leaders have chosen that course. But nobody ever made a success of the political game by trying to play it and playing it badly. A man can save a lot of money at poker by letting it entirely alone, but not by violating all the rules of safe and sane play. From the very beginning Taft seems to have been inspired by an idea that he must do politics in the presidential office. He kept referring to himself as the head of the party in his speeches and he even injected party references in his messages to congress—a most unprecedented procedure. Instead of allying himself with the people or with the senators and representatives that were trying to bring about popular rule—men of independent tendencies—he took up with the very rankest of the partisan reactionaries—Aldrich Cannon and the like. Acting on their advice as he afterwards confessed in the famous Norton letter he played patronage for all it was worth against the progressives and sent members of his cabinet out into insurgent states to campaign against men whose only offense was that they were striving to hold the party to its promises. Never since the days of poor, foolish Andrew Johnson, did a president play politics so hard, so awkwardly and with such disastrous results.

Now he is at it again, in a desperate effort apparently to smash whatever is left of the Republican crockery. It is not sufficient. In that job at least he may make a shining success.

But it is possible that not all the stand-patters like to see the very last chances of party success knocked into smithereens. Of course, there are the bitter and furious irreconcilables, such as we have in numbers here in California, who can get a lot more fun out of calling names than they can out of winning elections. They are running a-muck in a blind impotent rage and care very little what happens. But there are wise men in the East to whom party success is like the breath of life, and while they must and will, for a time, go right on shout for Taft, undoubtedly they are sick at heart at the sight of the ruin he has wrought.

Will they go on with the program and force his nomination upon a sullen and hopeless party, or will they at some stage of the proceedings stop and take a reckoning of their folly? The yare not of the type of people that enjoy butting their heads against a stone wall, even though they have a leader that is setting them an example. Six or eight months still remain before the die is irrevocably cast. And if the party holds any of the good old-fashioned brand of peacemakers and harmonizers it is high time they went to work, for the problem is hard and the danger most threatening."—California Outlook.

THE PUBLIC LANDS CONVENTION LYCEUM FEATURE

The entative program of the Public Lands Convention afforded by the 29 set topics, for papers and discussion, presents a lyseum feature of great interest and value, entirely aside from the problems of affairs of state.

For example, "The Possibilities of Dry Farming" will probably receive a discussion bearing more closely upon real truths than would obtain in almost any other assemblage. Very many people of the West are eager for data upon which to from an intelligent opinion on this subject.

"Economies Practiced in Metalliferous Mining and Smelting" must pertain very largel yto low grade ores and it is a recognized lamentable fact that our miners are not closely informed on the possibilities and what is being done, in rendering low grade ores commercially profitable.

The subject of good roads treated from the standpoint of Western conditions shoud be of great interest.

Few of our people realize that from two-thirds to three-fourths of the water powers in the United States are west of the Mississippi river. Many other very instructive features appear in the list.

If much of our space is devoted to annexation matters, our excuse is that it is the live question of the day.

All outstanding school district bonds of districts which may be annexed to, will be paid by the city of Los Angeles.

Consolidation with Los Angeles? Yes, "bine by." We just want to grow some more—get bigger, when it will be worth while.

Tomorrow, Friday, the fall colonist rush will start for California from Eastern states, and the following Sunday and Monday the first of the big army of coming homeseekers will reach this section.

Singularly enough Col. Roosevelt has chosen for the occasion of a violent attack on the administration of President Taft the negotiation of his peace treaties—about the only thing it has done that is creditable to it.

Does anyone doubt that within a period of five years the entire Los Angeles river valley from the narrows to base of the Verdugo hills will be as closly built up and filled with residences as any of the suburbs of the great city? If there is, he is shutting his eyes to the rapid pace with which that section is striding ahead.

We wonder if there is anything in the report that the owner of a Southern California lemon orchard did really follow the example of the northwestern wool grower who telegraphed his congressman: "If you don't support the tariff on wool we will defeat you for re-election," and followed the same a few days later with: "Do as you please; I have sold my sheep."

Ex-Mayor Donlop of Hollywood, is campaigning for the going into Los Angeles of the territory to the southeast of Tropico. He denies the existence of dissatisfaction of Hollywood with annexation and flatly contradicts the knocker's stories in relation thereto. Among the many advantages to Hollywood of becoming a part of Los Angeles is a five-cent car fare.

The people of Tropico are in favor of ultimate consolidation with Los Angeles. Later on, when they are through with their local improvement work and are ready to take up electric lighting and water supply matters. They will be prepard to entertain the proposition to become a part of that city, and so a part owner in Owens river aqueduct water and electricity supply.

What is the purpose of plastering this section with anti-annexation circulars just now? We are not particularly concerned in the annexation election of September 22. The territory proposd for bcoming a part of Los Angeles at that election contains a very small part of the San Fernando valey proper, and—Well, to be plain about it, we want the San Fernando valley to have the first chance at the surplus of Owens river, simply because the people of that territory are rightfully entitled to it.

The antis are striving to erect a monstrous scare out of the big bond debt Los Angeles has incurred in the course of the prosecution of its several gigantic enterprises—in the expctation no doubt of thereby being able to drive electors into voting against going into Los Angeles and subjecting their property to taxation for the payment of it. But in the face of the demonstration that rates of taxation on $100 valuation and for water service per annum are one-half in the city of what they are in the country, the gauzy creation doesn't scare worth a cent.

THE ANNEXATION ELECTION OF SEPTEMBER 22

Writing of becoming a part of the City of Los Angeles, in the Highland Park Herald, of September 9, Mr. G. W. E. Griffith furnishes the following excellent summary of facts and figures:

"From this combined city and county taxes we would realize the following reductions or benefits:

First, We would escape all special school taxes, as the city would assume and pay all district school bonds, and school expenses. This amount would vary in the different districts, but would average not less than one per cent or $10 on every $1000 valuation.

Second. The home we have under consideration would usually be insured for $1500. The rate in the city is 70 cents for three years, and out of the city it is $1.00—the difference is $4.50 or $1.50 per year.

Third The tetlephone rate is 50 cents per month less in the city, which is a saving of $6 per year.

Third. The telephone rate is 50 cents outside the city against 7 in the city, which would be a saving of not less than $6 per year, and possibly more, depending on the quantity used.

Fifth. The minimum water rate in the city is 75 cents, and outside of the city it is $1.50 per month, a saving of $9.00 per year and possibly much more to those who use a good deal of water.

To recapitulate: The total city and county taxes, according to amounts paid for the year 1910, would be $24.40.

From which deduct the following:

District School taxes, average	$10.00
Insurance saved	1.50
Telephone tax saved	6.00
Electric light saved	6.00
Water tax saved	9.00
Total	$32.50

Thus it will be seen that the saving to every house holder, who owns a home valued for taxation at $1000 would save more than the entire taxes paid, both city and county, besides the many other advantages of residing within the city.

I believe that values would be stimulated, and vacant lots and improved property be more easily sold by coming into the city.

I expect to see the day, in the near future, when the revenues derived from the sale of power derived from Owens River water will be sufficient to wipe out the bonded debt of the city, and very largely reduce the expenses of the city government.

The patriotic devotion to the interests of the coming great city of Los Angeles ought to demand every vote in favor of annexation.

We have no use for knockers. Let every one boost-"

A water district for this end of the San Fernando valley, embracing Tropico, Glendale, Verdugo and adjacent territory, should include all of La Crescenta for completeness of system and efficiency of service.

Charges against the Highway Commision of incompetency and mismanagement may be true or false. The fact remains that the good roads fund is short $1,500,000 of the sum necessary to complete the work of improvement planned thoroughly and as it should.

THE INTER-RELATIONSHIPS OF COMMUNITIES

It is as true today as when uttered by the apostle Paul, that "No man liveth unto himself" in a community. One might live with beasts and birds in a forest; even then he would not "live unto himself." Each one is more or less dependent upon others. What affects me favorably, affects others in like manner. What injures me will in some respects be injurious to my neighbors. If I permit weeds to grow upon my premises it will more or less be an injury to the community; first, in the depreciattion of each one's property, because men and women of refinement and appreciators of beauty, seeking a home, will not invest in weed streets. It is bad; looks bad, and the winds have an opportunity to scatter weed-seed over the finest plots of ground. So on all sides it is my duty to keep down weeds, to declare unremitting war upon all noxious plants.

Our inter-relations are vital in maintaining the best of sidewalks. Dirt and filth of any kind are no ornaments nor helps heaped upon walks. Nor is there any profit to me to cast trash upon the street in front of my holdings, nor before any one else's frontage. Streets look better, are better without trash.

And as a further inter-relation between people of any community, the limbs of trees on the sidewalk parks should be so trimmed that they will not strike men and women in the face, because the sidewalks are the people's proper places of promenade and pedagogic effort from place to place. Our relationship requires my trees to be no annoyance to passers-by. These are little things which seem exceedingly small in themselves, but suppose a limb of a tree should put an eye out, or the filthy condition of a lot should depreciate your and the community's property, or that an untidy sidewalk should keep out a home-seeker and send him elsewhere where the keen eyes and open sense of the people keep things in fine shape; where does it pay the careless fellow?

Nobility of mind, aesthetical tastes, high manhood ad graceful citizenship call for each freeholder, each property holder to give forth the best in him on all lines looking to the most desirable things affecting all. If we have simply selfish instincts we get far away from our best possibilities. Let us do our best for Tropico. It has an ideal location, resources which enable one to beautify home, and every helpful element to make our interrelations very congenial.

The county is spending millions for good roads, getting at least a little out of the great appropriation. What about trees along those dear boulevards? Shade trees on each side of the highways will produce great, good results and ought to be planted. As soon as the road is completed through any community the people should move to plant trees. Give us lots of "Unter den Linden."

Yours for the best conditions material, and morally out of the best possibilities.—M. M. Eshelman.

The question for the San Fernando valley to answer is: Will it be cheaper and better to become a part owner with Los Angeles in the Owens river aqueduct than it will to be a customer at the bargain counter for the supply of its needs from it? And that is all there is to it.

That Los Ageles has the right to regulate car fares within the city limits, would seem to admit of no question. At least that is the opinion of City Attorney Shenk—whether the same is collected by an inter-urban company or not. Then why is it that the Edendale line is allowed to side-track at a point half way from the city limits and the inter-urban line is permitted to finish the trip and exact a fare of fifteen cents therefor. Is that a square deal? Is it because of the fear that a few laborers and real estate dealers of Tropico would get the benefit of the five cent rate? Of the employees of the Pacific tile works and Los Angeles basket factory, both on the city line, quite a number are residents of Los Angeles. To reach their destination, their line of travel is wholly within the city. As citizens of the city, why should they not have a five-cent car fare?
